MILLIONAIRE TRIES TO HOUND WOMAN OUT OF COUNTRY

Rich New Yorker Uses Immigration Officials in His Effort to Have Paula Klippenbourg Deported to Cherbourg.

That the Government authorities on Ellis Island are being used to hound out of the country a beautiful young German girl, who has suffered greatly through the duplicity of a New York millionaire, was the charge made to-day by her lawyer, William Solomon, of No. 145 Nassau street.

The girl is Miss Paula Klippenbourg, daughter of a wealthy theatrical manager of Berlin, who arrived here on Aug. 3 in a first cabin suite in the Kaiserin Augusta Victoria. She was pennilessly supplied with money and lavishly provided with jewels. She went immediately to the Imperial Hotel, where she occupied a handsome apartment until yesterday, when she was arrested and dragged to the detention pen on Ellis Island.

The case is probably without a parallel, and if the story of the young woman is true her treatment on Ellis Island is an ugly commentary on what money and influence may do in moving the machinery of the United States Government against a greatly abused girl.

Mr. Watchorn's Admission.
Immigration Commissioner Watchorn made a statement this afternoon in which he admitted that the evidence tended to show that the Department of Commerce and Labor was being used as a tool in the effort to deport Miss Klippenbourg. He said that she was a brilliant young woman, and seemed to possess every attribute of refinement.

"She speaks German, French and Italian fluently and is exceptionally talented," said the Commissioner. "When she was eighteen years old she went on the stage in a prima-donna role, but her father objected to her public appearance and forbade it. He is said to be the head of a German theatrical syndicate."

Millionaire's Name Withheld.
The name of the millionaire who is playing the role of a villain of melodrama, according to Miss Klippenbourg's attorney, has been withheld. He is known in the case as Morris E. Mueller, which is not his right name. He is married and the father of a family, and lives in a handsome villa on the shores of the Hudson. He has an office in this city.

Miss Klippenbourg was nineteen years old when she first met "Mueller," she told Lawyer Solomon. This was three years ago. She was introduced to him in Berlin. He represented himself to be a teacher, and the girl saw no harm in accepting his attentions. He remained three months in the German capital, pursuing his suit and lavishing handsome presents upon the object of his attentions.

He returned to America after he had won the consent of Miss Klippenbourg to become his bride. In this country he addressed her frequently as "My Darling," "My Sweet," "My Love," "My Ethel," "My Shining Star," "My Ethel Star."

Two years ago he again went to Berlin, devoting all his time and attention to "His Evening Star." She makes the serious charge that under his promises of marriage he yielded to his every demand, though in doing so she estranged herself from her family.

Promised to Send for Her.
Last year he made his third visit to Germany, still travelling under the alias of Morris E. Mueller. This time he promised to send for Paula in the winter, so that they could be married in this city, but when he returned to America he failed to do so.

SIXTH RACE—Reidmore (7 to 10) 1, Monacord (4 to 5 for place) 2, Flavinny 3.

EMPIRE CITY RACE TRACK, Aug. 12.—Cederstrome captured the Bronxville Handicap, the chief event to-day, at the fancy price of 6 to 1. Carthage was second and Polly Prim third.

The show which set to-day proved a relief to racegoers, not only while they were en route to the track, but when they reached the course. The rain settled in a dull drizzle, and the track itself, making the course a trifle slow but cushioning it for the horses.

Full eight thousand spectators were present when the races were called to the post for the first event, for maidens, over the mile distance. To a good start Yellowback got away well, and after laying down the pace for half a mile gave way to Linnepe, which set sail into the stretch in the lead. There John W. Shields's Servile is at last a Yonkers winner. The gelding, installed an odds-on favorite for the second race, made good by winning a good race, clever race from Bounding Elk, going to the front in the stretch after the Elk had made all the running. Emma G., which finished third, ran an excellent race from where she got off. Hester Zarra, always prominent, tired in the last few furlongs and was a good fourth. Cederstrome is the winner of the Bronxville Handicap. Getting off absolutely last, Nelson's horse worked his way to the front at the head of the stretch and left his company. Carthage, the favorite, then made his bid and ranged alongside Cederstrome, but the latter had the best of the turn. Cederstrome held his speed to the wire, winning by a short head. Polly Prim, after a long tussle, passed, got third. Lady Savoy made the earlier running and looked all over a winner until she died in the stretch. Prince Ahmed was an offender at the start, cutting off several of the horses in his rush for the turn. Cederstrome's race was remarkable, considering the odds against him. The dash, Skyo was hard pressed.

Skyo got the first foot at the start and was off like a flash, but Col. Bob and Bizzzy Izzy, who had been in the lead, and Stanley Fay, who had been in the lead, were driven to stall off Skyo's stiff challenge at the end, but he won finally from Skyo. Stanley Fay came strong at the finish and was necked out of second money at the end.

Oak Grove Unbacked.
Oak Grove in a head-and-head finish with Woodwich and Escutcheon won the fifth race, the winner having been played steadily by the favorite, Escutcheon, off poorly, but for which he could not have lost, coming very strong at the finish, when the others were getting leg weary. Shields's Second Win.

Shields captured his second race of the day when he and specially old Reidmore won the race from Monacord and Flavinny in the hottest sort of a whipping finish. The other were beaten off. Monacord made the run, giving into the stretch when Reidmore gave to the front and got there. Flavinny came from away back in the last strides.

SHOT HIMSELF IN MOUTH.
Julius Steinman, fifty-seven years old, was taken from his home at No. 47 Columbus avenue, to Roosevelt Hospital this afternoon suffering from a bullet wound in the mouth.

Steinman's wife declares that the shooting was an accident, but the police can't quite figure out how he happened to have the barrel of the revolver in his mouth, unless he was trying to bite off the right. He will recover.

The national officers are standing by the men, and the general strike order will reach every man in the United States, Canada and Mexico.

According to the strikers, there are union men at work all over the country.

James P. Archibald, of the Civic Federation, and John Mitchell, of the strikers' Executive Committee, this afternoon, and they hurried to a secret meeting-place to confer with him. Mr. Archibald is in continual communication with Mr. Neill, in Chicago.

The Western Union Telegraph Company issued the following statement late this afternoon:

"The traffic of the Western Union Telegraph Company is being moved between the principal offices without delay and with little delay to the small offices. The force of operators in large cities is nearly up to the maximum and additions are being made hourly. It is expected that the normal condition of affairs will soon be resumed all over the country."

Spreading Through New England.
The strike is spreading through New England this afternoon. It began at Boston at noon, reached Newport, and is extending gradually.

The strikers cherish a secret hope that the Order of Railway Telegraphers will go out. This organization has a strike fund of $250,000, and is pledged to strike if any member is asked to handle commercial messages. A strike of railroad telegraphers would bring on a great labor war.

Railroad Operators' Ultimatum.
Manager Ackerly, in charge of the Western Union office at the Grand Central station, swamped by the absence of seventeen of his regular corps of operators, sent a batch of messages upstairs to the railway telegraphers for transmission to points along the lines this afternoon.

As they were commercial messages, the operators refused to send them, threatening to strike at once if the demand for messages was not withdrawn. The messages were not sent.

The strikers have not succeeded in lying up the telegraph companies by any means, but they say they have not yet shown the full strength of their hand. General strike orders have not been issued by the national officers, and will not be issued until President Small reaches Chicago to-night.

All the strikes thus far declared have been ordered by the local unions or have been inaugurated by the men themselves, without consultation with their officers.

The national officers are standing by the men, and the general strike order will reach every man in the United States, Canada and Mexico.

According to the strikers, there are union men at work all over the country.

SARATOGA RACE TRACK, Aug. 12.—Saratoga is something like the Saratoga of old to-day, and the business folk of the village are rejoicing. The town is wide open and the money is being more freely circulated as a result. This afternoon it was easy to hear stories of experiences last night at fortune telling. It was Jack So and So won $1200 last night playing bank, or Charlie What's-His-Name dropped a bundle to the wheel.

Broadway looked deserted, compared to other nights. Everybody had something to do. Every home in the village that could boast of a roulette wheel or a bank did plenty of business. Fine weather drew out a big crowd to the track this afternoon. The crowds seem to be getting bigger each day, now that the news has gone forth that gambling is running bareheaded. Each day sees new faces at the course and every train is adding more to the throng.

The best thing about gambling at the Spa is that you don't need a jimmy to get in any place. It's a case of walk right in, drop your bundle or win a bunch and walk right out again. There are no underground passages nor mysterious signals to run before you can pass the threshold. Everybody who wants to stake is welcome and the drinks are free. Anybody with an appetite for the fluid that cheers can work up an enthusiastic feeling while stacking the chips.

Favorite Wins Delaware.
The Delaware Handicap, the feature of the card here was the betting event of the meeting. It was a hard race from a handicapper's standpoint, but that did not prevent the public from betting. Vails was favorite and all Saratoga's natives favored her to the limit because she is owned by John Sandford. Sir Lynwood was played by the wise men, and the Millerites went to Running Water. The others who caught a play were Cairngorm and Ben Dan.

Two hundred thousand dollars would be a mild estimate of the money that changed hands on the result. Dr. Gardner was neglected in the betting and as good as 20 to 1 was to be had on him. Vails led all the way, but Dr. Gardner second. At the turn for home Dr. Gardner loomed up dangerously, but Beckler took a wrap the filly went on to win easily.

Dr. Gardner dropped back in the run through the stretch, and Sir Lynwood, who came with a great rush from far back to get into the money, Miller lost his hood in the second race, and was a third. The filly, who had a nose and just failed to get up. Sir Lynwood was third. The Royal Lady dropped a bunch on the Royal Lady. Charlie alone bet $1000 on the filly. She was lucky to be third.

DROWNED FROM ROWBOAT.
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 12.—Dr. Gardner, the upsetting of a rowboat in the Delaware River to-day George Knoche, aged thirty-seven years, of this city, was drowned, and a companion, whose identity is not known, was rescued after a hard struggle.

POLICE CARDS BACKED UP.
Acting Police Commissioner O'Keefe said to-day that he had been informed that some policemen refuse to recognize the police cards issued to reporters. He requests that all reporters take the number of any policeman who refused to recognize those cards and report to him at Police Headquarters.

John Henry, sixty-one years old, a janitor at No. 445 West Thirty-seventh street, was arrested to-day by Police-man Gilbert on complaint of Jennie Hemmell, nine years old, and Catherine Kelly, ten years old, of No. 443 West Thirty-seventh street.

The little girls complained to Thomas Hausch and Peter Kelly that Henry had taken them into his cellar and made advances which caused them to run away. They denied the charges and were held in $1000 for examination.
